MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Support

SUBJECT : Discussion with Director

Bob:

On Saturday night at Jocko's the Director and the undersigned were talking for a while after dinner regarding youth today. I mentioned the current New Yorker article in "Talk of the Town" by a Nobel Prize laureate at Harvard University, and he told me that this same article had been the subject of discussion at his table. At any rate this led to our discussion of the alienated youth of today, the percentage of bright gifted people in this group, the young people of the Agency, CTs, their quality, etc. I said during this discussion that I had an intuitive feeling that the young man coming into the Agency today was not of the same leadership stripe as those who had made the Agency what it is.

I noted that there was no question that those coming in via the CT Program tested as well or even higher than those of the past and that while they are every bit as qualified I sensed a difference which I would be hard put to articulate. Mr. Helms' quick reaction was to suggest I take off sometime and go and recruit the bright, alienated youth. As I hesitated in picking up the challenge, he told me to think it over and then come in to discuss it with him in two weeks.
